A. Domestic investors need to confirm whether the designated broker supports the application to sell the converted H shares

For domestic investors, the converted H shares are still registered in the investor's original B share account. In order to ensure smooth transactions after the conversion of B to H in the future, investors need to confirm with the designated broker whether they suggest the declaration of selling of H shares after conversion. For those with brokers support the transaction, investors can participate in H share trading from the first day of H share listing. For brokers that do not support it, investors can transfer the B share account for designated transactions to a broker that supports the sale of H shares after the conversion (please refer to the attachment for the specific list). If an investor wishes to participate in the trading on the first day of listing of H shares, it is advised to finish the designated transaction quickly; if an investor has an outstanding B-to-

Overseas investors can apply for transferring custody of shares held by them from domestic brokers to overseas brokers (i.e. "cross-border transfer of custody"). Domestic investors (including domestic investors and overseas investors who do not choose cross-border transfer of custody) can only sell, but not buy the Company's H shares. After oversea investors completed the cross-border transfer of custody, they can buy or sell the Company's H shares in accordance with the general H share trading rules without transaction restrictions.

I. Cross-border transfer of custody process

Before applying for cross-border custody of transfer, overseas investors should open a securities trading account with any securities company or custody bank in Hong Kong, and fill in the relevant information of the securities account when applying for custody transfer. The specific process of cross-border transfer of custody is as follows:

(1) The investor shall submit the application for cross-border transfer of H shares to the securities company designated for trading or the designated custodian bank for settlement with the identity document.

(2) After the securities company or the custodian bank has verified that it is correct and verified that the cross-border transfer custody shares declared by the investor have no rights flaws (including but not limited to judicial freezing, share pledge, etc.), fill in the “A
